PRICE, THREE CENTS

JONES TO LECTURE HERE NEXT THURSDAY AT VOLUNTARY CONVO.

Well-known Harvard Prof.
Will Speak on “Humanities
In American Education”

One of the country's foremost creative critics, Howard Mumford Jones, professor of English at Harvard University, will lecture here next Thursday, March 17. At a voluntary convocation at Murkland Hall at 1:15 Professor Jones will speak on “The Humanities in American Education.” That evening he will address the Phi Kappa Phi meeting.

As an author himself Howard Mumford Jones has shown an extraordinary versatility and range of interest, including plays, verse, biography and criticism. A long list of books and magazine articles is to his credit. Two of his latest books are “They Say the Forties” and “The Life of Thomas Moore.” He has translated Heine, edited editions of plays of the Restoration and Edgar Allan Poe's poems, dug into past literatures to produce volumes on “The Romanesque Lyric” and “American and French Culture,” won a playwriting contest in Texas and during recent years has achieved a position of national eminence as a dynamic critic.

A native of Michigan, Professor Jones received his bachelor's degree at the University of Wisconsin and his A. M. at the University of Chicago. He was a teacher of comparative literature and English at the University of Texas, University of North Carolina and University of Michigan prior to his present position at Harvard.

FRESHMAN DEBATERS MEET DOVER HIGH

The New Hampshire Freshman debaters lost one debate and won one to Dover High School last Friday afternoon. The affirmative team of Natalie Chandler and William Hall defeated Dover's representatives, Charles Richardson and Solon Barracrough in one room, as New Hampshire's team of Curtis Foster and Robert Sweatt bowed to Henry Swasey and Ralph Hepler across the hall.

The proposition, Resolved: that Unicameralism should be adopted by the several states, is the question chosen for the year's debating. This subject of the one-house legislative system is a timely and evenly divided topic.

The critical judges were Mr. Stone and Mr. Cortez. Chairmen were Elizabeth Edson and Mr. Monzone.

The schedule for the freshmen includes a debate with Laconia High School Tuesday and one with Bates College on the twenty-third.

BROWN DAILY HERALD SPONSORS EXTENSIVE STUDENT POLL

“The New Hampshire” Will Cooperate in Obtaining
National Student Opinion

During the last week the Brown Daily Herald has been conducting a poll among 1,200,000 college students to find the reactions of these students to the following situations: “I favor adoption of American policies in the Far East of?” “I favor the adoption of policies in regard to the R. O. T. C. of?” “I favor the adoption of policies for keeping the United States at peace of?” “I will fight of?” “I favor a naval policy of?”

On Monday, March 21, The New Hampshire will sponsor a poll on these questions for this campus. A specimen ballot is printed on page two of this issue, and will be incorporated in the Friday issue as well. This will give every student ample opportunity to carefully study each question and thus facilitate their actual voting.

This poll will not only give an inclination as to the sentiment of this campus, but the results will be sent to the National poll being conducted by the Brown Daily Herald. Inasmuch as this poll is on subjects that are vital to every thinking student, it is hoped by those in charge that there will be a truly representative vote cast. The balloting will take place under “T” hall arch on Monday morning from 8:00 to 12:00 o'clock.

Nineteen organizations coordinated in the United Student Peace Committee have undertaken co-sponsorship of this project. Included in the group are The Foreign Policy Association, the League of Nations Association, the National Collegiate Christian Council, the National Student Federation, and the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

OPPORTUNITY IN RADIO FIELD OFFERED

A talent quest for radio and stage personalities is underway in Dover under the sponsorship of the Rotary Club. “We're On The Air”, a radio-stage comedy in two parts will present the contestants on March 24 and 25 at Municipal Auditorium. The winner chosen by ballot in the audience will go to Boston, all expenses paid and appear over WHDH to try out for a future.

Auditions will be held at the Community House in Durham. All with musical, dramatic or unique ability are invited to sign up at the College Shop as soon as possible. Miss Ureta A. Pate of the radio-stage Guild will make appointments with all interested. Fun, laughter in a unique show is promised.

ANNUAL JUNIOR PROM COMMITTEES CHOSEN

Committees for the Junior Prom to take place May 13 were released today by the secretary of the Junior Class, Ruth Buckley. They include chairman, Roger Bruford; orchestra, Gordon Martin, advertising, Arthur Little; programs, Beverly Swain; decorations, Paul Thompson; chaperones, Betty Brown; and tickets, John McCarthy.

These committees will have charge of all arrangements for the annual dance, one of the main social events of the year, rivaling in importance the Mil. Art Ball, the Carnival Ball and the Graduation Ball. This year's affair is to be bigger and better than all previous proms.

FOUR UNH HOOPSTERS SELECTED FOR ALL- CONFERENCE TEAMS

Art Hanson Named to First Quintet; DuRie, Webb, and Dunn Make Second Group

Further honors were heaped upon New Hampshire athletes Saturday, when the coaches of the New England College Basketball conference released their official All-New England quintet. No less than four Wildcats were given places on the two teams chosen, a record equalled only by Rhode Island State. Co-captain Art Hanson was named as a first team guard, while co-captain Johnny DuRie, Red Webb and Ray Dunn received the most votes for second team posts.

As was expected, Rhode Island State placed two men, Jaworski and Tashjian, on the first team; Conn. State also was represented by two players on this five, with Pringle and Peterson receiving the honors. Besides DuRie, Webb and Dunn, the second team was made up of Petro and Fabricant, both of Rhode Island State.

It is a noticeable coincidence that the first quintet is composed of the top five high scorers in the conference. Jaworski and Tashjian were well in the lead with 158 and 136 points respectively, while Pringle had 120 and Peterson tallied 107. Hanson was fifth with 78.

COL. PUTNEY GIVES TALK TO YACHT CLUB

Colonel Putney, as speaker of the evening, addressed the Yacht club's Shore School last Thursday evening in the Common's Trophy room, lecturing on the elementary sailing manoeuvres.

Colonel Putney explained and described tacking, jibing, and running with and before the wind, emphasizing the necessity for careful treatment of the boats and the safety measures which must be taken while sailing. He further explained the management of boats under various weather conditions and what to do in case of emergencies.

Following Colonel Putney's talk, the Commodore of the club, Albert Edgerly conducted a business meeting at which time an emblem was voted upon and accepted by the members. The emblem shows a sailboat on a map of New Hampshire, the sailboat in white and the background in blue. Also discussed at this meeting was the celebration to be held at the public launching of the new sloop and suggestions were made by various members.

In early April the members of the club are going to have an examination which will cover all the information covered in the series of lectures in the shore school. Each member is required to pass this examination before he or she is permitted to sail.

The next meeting of the Yacht Club will have as its speaker Mr. Leon “Skip” Glover, who will discuss further fundamentals of sailing.

RATHBURN SPEAKS AT FORESTERS' BANQUET

The University of New Hampshire Foresters' Club gave their annual banquet last Thursday evening in the cafeteria at the Commons. The guest speaker of the evening was Mr. L. U. Rathburn, the Forester for the Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests.

After dinner was over, the lucky name was drawn by Mr. Rathburn for the prize of the evening, a single edge axe. Pierre Boy received it. Last year, George Stenzil was the winner of the prize, which was a double-bitted axe. Mr. Swain of the forestry department then talked briefly, and read a short incident from a book on lumber camps. He also awarded the green forester's badge to Frank Kenison and William Jahoda, for exceptional work in their fields. Professor Woodward also gave a short talk. Mr. Rathburn was then introduced. He spoke of the future of forestry in this state and in the United States, and of the possibilities of private forestry work as a career. His speech was enthusiastically received, and he was persuaded to speak further of his own work in the forests of the south, where he grows trees to supply “naval stores”, the pitch or resin from pines, which is used for the manufacture of many products.

The new members of the Forestry club, and newcomers into forestry work were greeted, and the meeting was closed.

GERTRUDE EHRHART AND HARRIETTE PRICE TO SING HERE WED.

Well-known Soloists Will Appear Under Auspices of Lectures - Concerts Committee

Miss Gertrude Ehrhart, soprano, and Miss Harriette Price, contralto, will give a concert, Wednesday evening at 8:00 P. M., at Murkland Auditorium, under the auspices of the Lectures and Concerts Committee.

Both Miss Ehrhart and Miss Price are noted soloists in their own right, and to hear them together is an unusual privilege.

Miss Ehrhart is one of the best known sopranos in Boston, and is soloist of a large Newton church. Four years ago she came to this campus singing the lead in The Secret of Suzanne, by Wolf-Ferri. Durham residents will also remember the concert which she gave here a number of years ago. She has appeared in frequent concerts at Jordan Hall in Boston, which were acclaimed by the press and the public.

Acclaimed by Press

Her press notices are full of praise. The Boston Evening Transcript says: “Her voice is one of singular purity which she shades down to the merest whispering pianissimo or swells for larger effect without loss of quality. The beauty of her sustained tone is one not often met with in concert hall.”

The Christian Science Monitor: “Miss Ehrhart sings with warmth and brilliance, with delicacy and deftness, with a keen sense of dramatic values and an even keener sense of whimsical humor.”

The Boston Herald: “Her voice has softened into an instrument of delicate beauty, swelling at times to a certain expressive power or rising to a clear brilliance of tone.”

Miss Harriette Price secured her musical background by study in the United States and Europe. She gained distinction through many recitals and oratorio programs, presented throughout the Middle West. At one time she was soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Since she came to Boston she has sung in numerous concerts and oratorio programs, besides appearing with all the prominent musical organizations of that city.

Omaha Bee News says: “Her voice is of outstanding beauty, of great opulence, and artistically managed. She sings with vitality and assurance of style.”

The Boston Evening Transcript: “Her phrasing was that of a sensitive musician. She discloses a well-rounded art, capable of dealing artistically with ancient opera, German art songs and French Impressionism.”

The Boston Herald: “In all that Harriette Price did, it was evident that the mood and meaning of her songs had been carefully considered and kept in mind. An intelligent differentiation of style was always achieved.”

Varied Program

The program includes a wide range of selections. Miss Price and Miss Ehrhart will open the program with three duets, taken from operas. Then Miss Price will sing three songs, by Carpenter, Rachmaninoff, and Cadman. Following will be a series of five duets, two by Schumann and three by Brahms. Miss Ehrhart will give four soprano solos, and the program will finish with four duets of the lighter mood.

Station Agent Says Students Are Milder then the Past

by Esther Barrett

“The students nowadays don't indulge in so much tomfoolery as they used to,” says “C” Wentworth, Durham's veteran stationmaster, who has been selling railroad tickets to students, faculty, and others for the last forty years. “You see, back in the 1900's before the gym was built, there wasn't any way for them to use up their excess energy and they were always up to some bedevilment. Hallo-we'ens and April Fool's days the town made siege preparations almost as if a raid of Mohawks were expected.”

Wagons were put up on the roof of the station four or five times; a tub of ice cream was stolen off President Murkland's porch during a reception and consumed in an orchard; a wall of concrete blocks near Dover was taken down; a group of daring students climbed up inside the old heating plant chimney and unfurled their class banner from the top; some members of the rival class hung their banner from the weather vane of T Hall; and a sort of intermittent feud was kept up between the train conductors and students who hid behind the fence and pelted them with tomatoes and other fruit.

Since the erection of the gym in 1906 (Mr. Wentworth was in the legislature at that time and partly by his influence the appropriation was secured), there has been a steady development in organized sports, physical education, and intramurals, a development which has long superseded the sort of mass practical joke in vogue some thirty to forty years ago.

Mr. Wentworth tells the story of a couple of alumni who returned not so long ago to the scenes they had left a quarter of a century before. The stationmaster remembered them, as he has remembered so many others among the long procession of graduates; and the three fell to reminiscing of the old days—the visitors recalling with relish their undergraduate exploits. “Say, Mr. Wentworth,” laughed one, “I'll bet we were about the wildest scamps they ever had here!”

“Well now, I guess maybe you were pretty bad,” drawled the stationmaster. “But after they'd gone,” tells Mr. Wentworth, “I just had to laugh and laugh. I couldn't bear to hurt their feelings; but actually they were the meekest, mildest fellows we had here then!”

THINK

Too often have college seniors been told, "You are the leaders of tomorrow," yet despite its triteness, the phrase expresses a reality. College graduates are the leaders of their generation, and fifteen years out of college they are playing a major part in determining the policies of the nation.

As students, these prospective future leaders must begin the process of training their minds on questions of vital national importance, of moulding the opinions which will guide them in formulating policies as citizens.

The Brown Daily Herald Survey of Student Opinion offers an opportunity for the students of the entire nation to declare their beliefs on five questions of foremost importance in international relations today. All of them bring clearly to the fore the necessity for sound, well-reasoned undergraduate opinion which will provide a background for development of a constructive American program for peace.

The Far East threatens to become the storm center of a second world war. Russia, the United States, and Great Britain are faced with the necessity of deciding once and for all their policy in China and the Pacific. Shall they join to suppress Japanese aggression, by force if necessary? Shall the United States withdraw from China? What shall our policy be?

Do the students themselves desire maintenance or enlargement of the R. O. T. C., or do they wish it to be curtailed? What do we think of our naval and military program? What action shall we take in Europe in an attempt to maintain peace? Will isolation prevent us from being involved in war, or will we inevitably be drawn in?

And, a most vital issue: In what sort of war will students be willing to fight? Again a well-worn expression, "It is the Youth of a country that fights its wars." Under what conditions will we be willing to fight—or shall we refuse our support in any war?

Statistics are valuable information. The expressed beliefs of over a million college students are a tremendous force in support of those policies favored by Youth. The effectiveness of the Survey depends entirely upon its magnitude.

Think—and having thought, let the world know your answers.

TO THE EDITOR:

A recent letter in these columns made some interesting suggestions to proposed character requirements for admission to the University. Inasmuch as I wrote the article about the recommendations of the Committee on Admissions, I was especially interested. Because the Committee report did not state what was done about the character of applicants, I interviewed some members of the Committee during the past few days. It seems that there have always been character requirements in force. For example, on page three of the blanks filled out by the headmaster of a school is a place for an estimate of the applicants' character. In another place the headmaster is asked to state whether, in his opinion, the applicant is the type to profit from college work. If the answer is "no" a member of the Committee on Admissions personally checks up on the applicant.

The proposal to have men go around the state to interview prospective students seems to have some drawbacks. First, there is the difficulty of measuring character. Educational psychologists generally agree that an estimate from the pupil's teachers in the most valid measure of character yet devised. That method of evaluation is now employed regularly in New Hampshire.

New problems present themselves—often the pupil becomes a freshman here, perhaps he has been a model of perfection when he lived at home; much can happen before he becomes adjusted here. Consider, for example, the matter of drinking. From empirical evidence it has been concluded that the average freshman drinks to be "smart"—the "Joe College" of College Humor. With such an attitude the idea seems to be to see how rapidly one can see the bottom of the bottle. Upperclassmen divide into three classes: those who continue at the freshman drink level; those who learn to drink in moderation; those who do not drink. I do not have any conclusive figures as to the preponderance of any of these types. Accordingly I cannot take issue with the statement that the "outer fringe" is growing broader. After all, who really knows?

Members of the Committee on Admissions are very pleased that students are interested enough to offer critical suggestions. It is a wholesome sign when students really think for themselves. With more real thinking, the problem of the "outer fringe" will tend to disappear.

Paul T. Dupell.

TO THE EDITOR:

It is interesting to observe that the military department—Major Swanton, at least—has awakened to the fact that it is not dealing with a whole class of gentlemen, but with a few gentlemen and a gang of hoodlums. The great awakening resulted in the exertion of some good old army discipline.

If the military department will remain awake after the beginning of the Thursday drills, it will stiffen its discipline to a greater extent. Then our drills will no longer be disgusting exhibitions of inefficient leadership and lack of proper subordination. If the demerit system were used as originally intended, there would be few high marks in the R.O.T.C.

RECENT EVENTS

by George Edison

On Sunday April 10, the citizens (all except the Jews) of Austria are to be given the opportunity of participating in a plebiscite, the purpose of which is to determine whether the Austrians wish a union with Germany.

The outcome of this plebiscite is already a foregone conclusion, for the vote will be about 90 per cent in favor for such a union, for history has shown us that this will be the inevitable result, as the plebiscites held in the Saar and in Germany have proved.

For two reasons this is a farcial, a theatrical gesture on the part of Herr Hitler, now the head-man in Europe's family of nations. Firstly, because to all intents and purposes, Austria is a part of Germany now and whether the Austrians vote yes or no, the fact will remain that the union has been completed, both economically and politically, with Germany.

The Austrian Cabinet is composed entirely of Nazis, President Miklas has been forced to resign, German troops are in evidence everywhere throughout Austria, control of all the governmental functions are in the hands of the Nazis, and a German-Austrian customs union has been announced, all of which points to the control of Austria by Germany.

The second reason why this plebiscite must be discounted is that it will be a cut-and-dried affair from the very beginning. What with German military and its subsequent psychological coercion, the Austrians will have no choice. And, as far as the actual voting is concerned, they will have no choice either, for the ballots will permit them to vote only three ways, "yes", "yes", and "yes".

As this is the first plebiscite to be conducted by Hitler outside of Germany, its result will be watched with a great deal of interest, for it may prove to be the machinery by which Hitler hopes eventually to incorporate those Germans now living in Czechoslovakia, Poland, and other central European countries, into a Great German Reich, which would become the greatest power in Europe.

Warfront News

GREAT OFFENSIVE

Early last fall Loyalist commander, General Sebastian Pozas took the strategic city of Belchite southeast of Saragossa. The capture was hailed as one of Republican Spain's greatest victories. Last week Belchite was retaken as General Juan Yague's swiftly moving Rebel troops moved eastward to cut Loyalist Spain in two. In four days nearly 1,000 square miles of new territory has been cleaned up. Airplanes, cavalry, tanks, and infantry cooperated along a 70 mile front, moving forward so quickly that the Loyalists were unable to reinforce their lines in time to stem the unexpected power drive. To halt this deadly offensive, General Pozas has decided to risk the main Republican army to combat the enemy forces. At Hajar, immediate objective of Franco's unexpected drive, fresh reinforcements are building a new line. Hajar is 25 miles southeast of Belchite, and 60 miles from the Mediterranean. Latest reports show that a lightning-like cavalry advance of General Monasterio's troops have penetrated the new line at several points. Besides many prisoners and captured arms, the coalmining district of Montalban, important as a source of supply for Barcelona, was captured Sunday night. The new Insurgent line runs from Fuentes de Ebro, past Quinto, 20 miles down the Ebro River from Saragossa, running a few miles west of Hajar and through course. Certainly the military department cannot hope to depend upon "spirit of co-operation" for smart drills; no such spirit can exist at a school of this type, not with the present system of admission.

It is unfortunate that the power of the military department does not extend to our compulsory convocations. There, the typical New Hampshire democratic spirit is at its best. It manifests itself in a disgruntled murmur that can submerge any man's voice before that voice can reach the farther end of the gymnasium. There is nothing that can compare with army discipline.

Between You and Me

by Eye

Now for the latest news of the week, as Eye sees it. Smash! The Stoneleigh girls were well represented at the Hetzel Dance, Friday nite, and so were the Lambda Chi's at Alpha Xi.

Extra Smash! Barbara Head is now proudly displaying a bit of jewelry, in the form of a fraternity pin, which she collected from one Stan Otis. A Lambda Chi pin also adorns Jane Rich.

Smash! We see that Ruth Stoughton is no longer a roommate affair. Mr. Wyman saw to that. And just to make sure, he is putting in an appearance at Scott Hall this Friday nite. Benchwarmer and June Flanders were holding down the seats in the balcony of the gym, Saturday nite. Betty Fisher will no longer dictate to Beaulieu. She has found a new love in the person of David Kerr. We wonder when Connie will break out with chicken pox?

Smash! Two fellows from Dover were seen driving around our noble campus looking for Joan Sweet. They stopped one of our local boys and gave him a card to give to Joan. On the card was printed E. Anton Furniture, Inc. Are you interested in someone in the furniture business, Joan, or are you going to start in housekeeping soon?

Smash! This column isn't supposed to be an advice to the lovelorn column, but we would like to suggest that Eleanor Lee spend less time (at least not 27 minutes) saying goodnite to Louis Frank, and, Eleanor, if you stay outside in Louis' car when you should be inside, you should at least turn down the radio!!!

News Flash! Artie doesn't like to read his name within these revealing lines, but bowling over the campus women is no way to keep your name out of print.

Smash! We think that Dick Phenix should keep his women (or should we say woman?) informed as to his whereabouts so that they won't have to come

In the Dover Hi-Y there are many active Durham boys, and the offices are controlled by the following members: Sid Peterman, president; David Eastman, vice-president; and Harold Woodworth, secretary. The local boys have participated in the State YMCA Conference, and they are planning to attend the South Eastern District Conference at Portsmouth on March 26th.

Secretary Reid O. Besserer will be present at the Freshman Camp this year. At the present time he is working co-operatively with the University Extension Service, and is ready at all times to serve any local groups or assist agencies interested in youth. Dean Gale Eastman is a member of the State Executive Committee, which has introduced Mr. Besserer to this field.

TECHNOLOGY COLLEGE TO GIVE EXHIBITION

The College of Technology is arranging a three-day exhibition to be given April 21, 22 and 23. Each department of the college will take part and be responsible for its own exhibit. The student branches of National Scientific Societies are in charge. The work will be done by the students with the help of the faculty. Dean Case is general-manager of the project as a whole.

The exhibition will start the evening of Thursday, the twenty-first of April at 8:00 o'clock with a show by the Chemical Engineering Department.

On Friday the twenty-second, beginning at 2:00 P. M. and continuing through the evening, the departments of Civil Engineering, Architecture, Physics, Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, and the Engineering Experiment Station will present their contributions. Students will be shown working in the laboratories. The Experiment Station will carry on its regular projects. The Physics and Electrical Engineering Departments in particular will exhibit spectacular experiments, such as the disappearing doll, which was such a success last year at the Mothers' Day Exhibition.

All the departments will unite on Saturday, April 23, to present an all-day show on the subject, "Science and Applied Science."

The program is planned to enable the trustees of the University and others interested, to observe the work of the College. The public will be welcomed. Guides will be on hand to escort the guests around. On the twenty-third, High School students will also attend the exhibition. Many of these students have expressed a curiosity in the work of the science departments of the University, so all those in New Hampshire High Schools who are interested will be invited at the Conference of High School Superintendents, which will be held here April 1.

The Exhibition this year is an enlargement of the program presented last year by the Chemical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, and Mechanical Engineering Departments, independently, to celebrate the fiftieth year of the establishment of laboratory work and Engineering at New Hampshire College of Agriculture and Mechanics Arts, which was then located at Hanover, as a part of Dartmouth College.

A.T.O. HOLDS FOUNDERS DAY CELEBRATION

Alpha Tau Omega fraternity celebrated the 75th anniversary of its founding last Friday. The local chapter, Delta Delta, was fortunate to have the Worthy Grand Treasurer of the National Fraternity, Alexander Macomber of Boston, as speaker at its banquet.

Guests included President Fred Engelhardt, Dean Norman Alexander, Dean M. Gale Eastman, Prof. C. W. Coulter, Stanley R. Shimer, A. H. Brown, and Edward Blood. Dean Eastman recounted experiences of the fraternity in its infancy on the campus as a local. President Engelhardt congratulated the fraternity on the observance of its founding and urged the members to carry on the ideals of the fraternity and to make the

RUSS MARTIN PICKS ALL-OPPONENT TEAM

Keeping in swing with the current All-team selecting rush, Russ Martin, captain of the varsity hockey team, and himself an All-New England puckster, chose an All-Opponent sextet for The New Hampshire, Friday.

M. I. T. and B. U. each placed two men on the Wildcat leader's team, while St. Anselm and B. C. had one apiece. Russ Picked Derosiers, the B. U. wing who has been described as the outstanding American collegiate puckster of the season, as one of his flankmen, and Muther of M. I. T. as the other. Carnrick, sensational M. I. T. goalie was awarded the net-guardian post, while Brochu of St. Anselm earned the center position. As defensemen, Russ selected Hoar of B. U. and O'Callaghan of B. C., with Sharkey of B. C. as alternate for the position.

While Coach Christiansen was not available for his selections, it is expected that he will chose an All-Opponent team soon.

Russ Martin's All-Opponent Team—

Prominent Campus Missions Have Uniqueness As Key-note

by Paul Dupell

Last year, fraternities seemed to lean towards measuring and counting stunts in the "missions" assigned to pledges during "hell week"; this year variety seems to be the keynote.

Among the printable missions several stand out either for their uniqueness or their difficulty. It is difficult to conceive of a mission that has not been done before. Consider the case of two self-called "lady-killers" who had to secure signatures of the burlesque artists at the "Old Howard" in Boston. To add to the difficulty the youths were given just enough money to buy tickets to the theater. After securing the signatures, the youths had to walk to the suburbs before thumbing a ride. We understand they had to walk from Portsmouth to Durham.

From another fraternity two men were sent to bring back a bag and its contents from a certain deserted house. The pledges found the burlap bag spiked to a rafter. After struggling to get it down they discovered that it contained two cannon-balls weighing sixty pounds apiece. The men vowed that the balls weighed over a ton when they were deposited in the chapter house.

One pledge has established a non-stop endurance record for pushing a wheelbarrow from Kittery, Maine, to his Chapter house.

From the number of articles of feminine "unmentionables" procured both lo-

WILDCAT BASKETBALL LEADERS SELECT ALL STAR HOOP QUINTETS

Jaworski and Tashjian of R. I. State Are Unanimous Choices for Positions

Coach Henry Swasey and co-captains Johnny DuRie and Art Hanson, New Hampshire's basketball leaders, demonstrated a definite uniformity of opinion last week, when they chose their All-Star teams for The New Hampshire. Jaworski and Tashjian, Rhode Island State aces, were unanimous choices for every one of the three teams—All-Opponent, All-Conference, and All-New England. Pringle of Conn. State received the votes of DuRie and Hanson for their three teams, while Coach Swasey selected the mammoth Nutmegger center for his All-Conference quintet only. A third Rhode Island player, Fabricant received two votes for All-Conference, which just about made it seem that Rhode Island was considered by the selectors to be the best team faced by New Hampshire this season.

The complete choices:

Coach Swasey—

All-Conference Team: Tashjian and Jaworski of R. I. State, forwards; Pringle of Conn. State, center; DuRie of New Hampshire and Fabricant of R. I. State, guards.

All-New England Team: Nechtem of B. U. and Tashjian of R. I. State, forwards; Platt of Brown, center; Jaworski of R. I. State and DuRie of New Hampshire, guards.

All-Opponent Team: Nechtem of B. U. and Tashjian of R. I. State, forwards; Jaworski of R. I. State, center; Fabricant of R. I. State and Collier of Tufts, guards.

Co-captain Hanson—

All-Conference Team: Jaworski and Tashjian of R. I. State, forwards; Pringle of Conn. State, center; Peterson of Conn. State and Labowicz of Northeastern, guards.

All-New England Team: Nechtem of B. U. and Jaworski of R. I. State, forwards; Pringle of Conn. State, center; Tracy and Jackson of Springfield, guards.

All-Opponent Team: Nechtem of B. U. and Jaworski of R. I. State, forwards; Pringle of Conn. State, center; Lord of Maine, and Erickson of Middlebury, guards.

Co-captain DuRie—

All-Conference Team: Jaworski and Tashjian of R. I. State, forwards; Pringle of Conn. State, center; Hamlin of Maine and Fabricant of R. I. State, guards.

All-Opponent Team: Jaworski and Tashjian of R. I. State, forwards; Pringle of Conn. State, center; Jackson of Springfield and Collier of Tufts, guards.

cally and from outside sources one wonders whether some frats intend to open lingerie departments.

A pledge who boasted that he could influence anyone was assigned to get the signature of a noted temperance preacher on a beer can. Incidentally he failed in his mission and is now sitting on a cushion.

Last year several prominent campus missions had to serenade various kinds of livestock. This year a pledge was forced to wrestle a greased pig. For fifteen minutes the battle waged furiously, finally being declared a draw by the "referees".

Our vote for the toughest mission goes to the following: two pledges were sent to Manchester to find a hotel where two of their fraternity brothers had stayed two weeks previously. There aren't many real hotels in Manchester, but there are a few hundred rooming houses calling themselves hotels. Actually the hotel in question is a veritable "flop-house", fifty cents a room and no questions asked. Through a process of elimination the pledges finally found the rooming house, and hired the room that their fraternity brothers had slept in. Then came the really difficult part of the assignment—capturing a cockroach which the fraternity brothers had stained with ink while they were in the hotel room. At present the fraternity has not decided whether or not the cockroach that was brought back was stained after it reached Durham.

Hail the class of 1939! The Juniors triumphed last Saturday night and avenged the defeat they suffered at the hands of the sophomores three weeks ago. Pete Urban and Bob Sinclair were the stars of the winners while Phil Hodgdon and Ken Noseck stood out for the sophs. Lambda Chi and Abe Gozonsky representing the senior class, whipped a rugged and hard-fighting freshman team.

New Hampshire continues to make the sports pages. The All-New England teams are being announced left and right and New Hampshire is well represented on all of them. First of all the lacrosse team had Charlie Karazia and Johnny DuRie on the first two teams and Matthews and Manchester on the squad. Russ Martin, Bull Martin and Ray Patten represent the Blue and White on the Intercollegiate Hockey teams. Now comes the announcement that Art Hanson, Red Webb, Johnny DuRie and Ray Dunn have been honored by being selected on the New England Basketball League's all team. Everyone we have talked with is quite indignant that Butch Leocha was neglected when they announced the teams. No one deserved the choice any more than did Vic, and here's hoping that next year he will continue the good work that he started so well this year.

Official practice for the spring football candidates started yesterday in grand style. The first week or so will be mostly conditioning. After vacation real work will begin and the coaches will get a line on the prospects for next year.

The usual spring thaw seems to be setting in and it will be a few weeks now before the teams can get any real worthwhile workouts in. The track is ankle deep mud and the baseball field is just about as bad. The lacrosse team is handicapped as much as the rest by the damp ground. The long-awaited cage will be a great thing for the harrassed New Hampshire spring teams.

We wonder what sort of an outfit Coach Justice will have on the cinder path this season. To begin with he'll have Huck Quinn who is the New England half mile champion. Huck can also be counted on for points in the quarter or the mile if necessary. Percy Whitcomb in the quarter is another reliable one, and Raigh Mason in the mile can be counted on. Art Bishop is the best of the two milers although Hal Jennison, Bill Slater and Ted Underwood may be in there. Don Tabb, Frank Wright and Phil Johnston should bring home the most points in the dashes. Wright will also do the broad jumping as Bob Hart is not going out this season. Chip Long and Dick Nellson will be the best in the weights and Burt Mitchell will scrape the sky in the pole vault.

The final standing of the New England Intercollegiate Basketball league has been announced, and New Hampshire ends in a tie for second place with Connecticut. Of course, post mortems are easy to make but it was too bad that the first Connecticut game couldn't have been a victory instead of a one point defeat. However, everyone will agree that the basketball team and the hockey team as well deserve much credit for the work they did this season. They both managed to finish in second place in their respective league after they had been considered only as mediocre teams at the beginning of the winter.

RIFLE TEAM REGAINS STRIDE AT HARVARD

The University Rifle team regained its stride Friday at Cambridge, and shot to a brilliant 896-821 victory over Harvard university. This was the first match between New Hampshire and Harvard this season; another match, scheduled for an earlier date, was forfeited because of the illness of the Cambridgians.

Each man on the winning team either equalled or bettered the score of the top Harvard man. Goodnow made a total of 185, Leocha had 183, and Richardson hit 181 to lead the Wildcats. Clark, high scorer for Harvard, was unable to do better than 172.

As yet, the rifle team has the best record of any winter sports team on campus, with only a two point loss to M. I. T. marked up against it. Victims of the marksmanship of the Durham sharpshooters include Bowdoin, (twice), Lowell Textile, Harvard, (twice—once by forfeit), Boston College, Northeastern, (twice), Boston university.

With only two men, Berry and Leocha, being lost to the team by graduation next June, prospects appear bright for an even better team next season; additional strength is expected from a number of freshman marksmen who have been working out with the varsity team this year. The list of returning veterans will include Goertz, Goodnow, Jenkins, Tenney, Thompson, Smith, Richardson, Hardy, Batchelder, and Woolner.

The next match will be against Lowell Textile, in Durham, on Wednesday. This is a return engagement.

THETA CHI CAPTURES PING - PONG TOURNNEY

In the finals of the intramural ping-pong tournament, played in the gymnasium last week, Bob Tilton of Theta Chi defeated Bill Carey of Sigma Beta, in straight games, 21-18, 21-12, and 21-16. Tom Fairweather of Theta Chi took third place by slamming his way to another straight game win over Johnny Decker of SAE in the consolation match. Last year's champion, Howie Burch, wearing the colors of the Student Cooperative club, lost to Decker in the second round, after a hotly contested battle.

This is the second season that intramural ping-pong has been held here and, just as last year, the tournament was a huge success. A large crowd was on hand Wednesday and Thursday evenings when the matches were held. Two men were entered from each fraternity and club, and the competition was on five tables, set up in the gymnasium.

Shanghai—The new Japanese push in Shensi has been gradually worn down, thanks to guerilla warfare and the stubborn resistance of the Chinese Western armies. Repeated attempts to seize the strategic Lunghai railway corridor have failed and several towns have been retaken by Chinese surprise attacks. The success of the Chinese along the Yellow River valley has gained much-needed time, and has succeeded in delivering a well-planted blow at Japan's dwindling military resources during the past month.
